

Theo Kittelson won the Maxwell runabout that was offered in the Rural Weekly subscription contest. The car arrived here last evening and is a dandy. It is painted black, and is fully equipped. The top, lamps and tanks were not included on the car in the contest, but Mr. Kittelson won by such a large majority, that the company threw them in for good measure. He is highly pleased with the result of the contest, which is but natural, of course. Otto Knapp lost out in the contest for the Regal auto, offered by the Minneapolis Daily News. He was the third highest, with over 800,000 votes. The car was won by a man from Benson Minnesota, with a vote of 1,621,000. The second highest was a Battle Lake, Minnesota man.
