

Mrs. Siver Koloen was injured last Sunday in a peculiar manner. She, with two of her children, were riding in a buggy, while another child was riding horse back behind. Some way the horse which the boy was riding became frightened and jumped forward, his front feet landing in the buggy ahead. In trying to avoid injury from the horse, the buggy was tipped over and in this way Mrs. Koloen sustained her injuries, tho' they are not of a serious nature. The children were not hurt.
