
F. G. Lewis is holding his own—and than some—in the automobile contest conducted by the Minneapolis Daily News. In Wednesday's paper he was in the lead by 7000 votes. Today's paper shows him second, a man from Minnesota leading by 20,000. Fred had sent in about 100,000 votes the first of the week that had not been credited to him, and those added to the number as shown in the paper will place him on top. The News is a good paper, and with the subscription price at only $2.00 it ought to be in every home in this locality.
