Hannaford Enterprise: George Stokkeland of Luverne spent Sunday in Hannaford. He has opened his barber shop and pool room at Luverne and is doing a good business. Luverne is growing rapidly. Among the latest additions to the town are a new bank, machine and hardware stores, coal yard, clothing store, lumber yard, blacksmith shop, restaurant and bakery. Later in the spring Andrew Paulson will open a garage. While steel has been laid to Luverne and freight trains are run twice a week, it is still inconvenient for the business men as freight is as yet handled only in carload lots smaller quantities having to be hauled from Hannaford or Hope.
