

Miss Luella Mattfield, sixteen years age, was seriously injured last Sunday by the explosion of a dynamite cap. The young lady was assisting her sister in the cook car belonging to the Fred Markwardt threshing outfit. A dynamite cap had been left on a cross beam next to the roof of the car, presumably by some well digger, and in some way had dropped onto the stove unnoticed by those present. They were attracted by the odor, and thinking it was a piece of rubber burning, the young lady went to brush it off when the explosion occurred. Her hand was quite badly lacerated, but was fixed up so she will not lose the use of it. Another piece struck her in the right eye, and it thought that she will lose the sight of it. She was hurried to an eye specialist in Fargo in the hopes of saving it. The accident happened on the Sun. 10. 1903. 1 m. Lat. car
