

specialist.

Knute Norswing was in town Saturday buying up a week's supply of foodstuffs. Knute isn't particularly stuck on this batching business, but with a cast iron stomach he seems to think he can exist on his own cooking until the house is finished sufficiently to bring his family into it.

A. J. Anderson returned Saturday