

and beautifully embroidered linen.

The separator belonging to Anton Oien was burned to the ground Tuesday afternoon. They were threshing on the Oien farm and had just started the season's run that afternoon and had threshed out about 400 bushels when the fire was discovered. A hot box on the inside of the separator near the cylinder was the cause. It seems that Mr. Oien is getting more than his share of misfortune.