The Pekin tennis club has been very busy this week fixing up their new tennis court.

T. J. Alstad returned yesterday from Fargo where he had been on business for a few days.

Two new residences have been started this week, one being for Martin Rood and the other for August Rickford.

O. O. Forde returned Monday from Belfield, this state, where he went to look after his interests in some land he has there.

The firm name of the hardware store will be Scamson & Rickford instead of The Pekin Hardware Co., as was given in last week's issue.

P. A. Lee, O. A. Otteson and O. E. Olson made a flying trip in the auto to Aneta the fore part of the week on business.

Otto Flohr, our genial blacksmith, and the editor motored to Wimbledon in the former's car Saturday evening to spend Sunday with friends and relatives. As bad as the roads were the little "Metz car" carried us there in less than three hours, a distance of sixty-eight miles.

The Pekinites that motored to Grand Forks Wednesday to hear Mr. Amundson, the south pole discoverer, speak, were P. A. Lee, Martin Fredrickson, Nels Hagen, Bert Anderson, Ole Fredrickson, Sam Thorsten, Dr. A. N. Currie, O. O. Forde, and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Knapp. They all report an enjoyable trip even though the roads were rough.
