

The dance given at Red Willow lake last Saturday night was very well attended. In fact, the room was so crowded that dancing was nearly impossible, but even at that, everyone seemed to enjoy themselves. The full German band of McHenry, composed of 25 pieces, furnished the music. In this connection, let it be said that Chris Heinson, he of kraut, limburger and wiener propensity, was in the height of his glory, and imagined he could see envy in the eyes of the rest of the party—all because his German friends were doing the music stunt. But this braggart air of Chris' will be of short life—wait till the Binford band—mostly Scandinavians—get out there.
