

Matt Rorvig was in Cooperstown last week and purchased from Hammer Bros. a pair of the best imported Belgian mares which that company owned. The pair weigh about 3900. With the good stallion which Mr. Rorvig already has in his possession, this places him in a position to raise some of the very highest class pure-breds. Mr. Rorvig has long since abandoned the one crop idea and as a consequence he is counted as one of the county's most substantial farmers. Others would do well in following his methods.