

We understand that John Thune is getting along as well as could be expected at the hospital in Fargo, where he had his right arm amputated above the elbow.