

S. E. Westman, the tailor, has an ad in today's paper, that will be interesting to many at this time. He is swamped with work at the present time, but is never too busy but what he can handle more, even if he has to resort to the burning of the midnight oil. The tailoring establishment has proven a handy thing for many, and is one of Binford's permanent institutions.

Robt. Mueller, one of the...