

Miss Edith Jasmer, who has been making her home with Geo. D. Bowe, was taken ill last Friday. By Sunday she became worse so called Dr. Truscott, who found that it was appendicitis. Pus was already forming and for fear it would be fatal to wait until Monday to take the train from here, she was hurried to Sutton in F. C. Boeckman's car and left from there for Fargo to the hospital. Everything possible was done for her but it seems it was too late and she died Tuesday afternoon at 5:20 o'clock. Mr. Bowe wired her folks at Verndale of her condition and for them to come to her. They reached there an hour after her death. Her remains were shipped to Verndale yesterday morning for burial. We are unable to learn all at this time but will give the obituary next week.
