

corn in order to secure a date.

An announcement of the wedding of Julius Peterson to Miss Stella Ross of Luverne, is reprinted from the Luverne Ledger, in this issue. The contracting parties are known to The Times editor, the groom exceedingly well, as he is our brother, and from what we know of the bride we are inclined to believe that he got the best of the deal. Perhaps that they got married in Moorhead accounts for his literary nuptial outburst. Anyhow, we're glad he's married as we now stand some chance of getting even for the grub he's had at our house. Congratulations.