

Aneta Has Fire.

Aneta was visited by fire again last Friday evening and the likes of it has not been seen since the Jim Miller confectionary burned some years ago.

As far as we can learn the fire started from a vulcanizer, someone patching a tire and left it a few minutes. It seems that some little explosion took place and the flames caught in some inner tubes and they carried the flames to the ceiling.

A large quantity of oil in barrels and cans was stored around and it took no time until they caught fire and then the flames spread from one end of the building to the other. Several cars were stored in there at the time but they managed to save all but three. One of these was Albert Well's new Hupmobile, and the others were a Maytag and a Metz, both belonging to Harry Long.

Several people had narrow escapes in losing cars in there. Hans Finnesbo just backed his car out on the street when it started, the Aneta Supply company had their car in there at the time. Another man came along intending to put his in when he saw the smoke rolling out through the door and he had to slam the brakes to keep from running in.

Just what the loss is we do not know but we understand that there was no insurance on the building which makes it a large loss to Harry Long.—Aneta Panorama.
