Hannaford Enterprise: W. L. Bennett, pastor of the M. E. church at Cooperstown, spoke in the Presbyterian church in this village last Wednesday evening on "Newfoundland." Rév. Bennett was born and reared in Newfoundland and the thrilling incidents and adventures he related were events that he himself had seen or participated in. He told of experiences of the hardy fishermen in their struggles with sea and storm and of the sufferings of the seal hunters when lost among the ice floes in fog and storm. In a plain straightforward manner he told of these things, so different from what we are familiar with in North Dakota, and that what he had to say interested his audience was proved by the undivided attention with which both old and young in the audience listened to his address from beginning to end.
