

ALL IS READY FOR SATURDAY

Market Day in Binford Will Draw Immense Crowds From Sur- rounding Country.

Unless all signs fail Binford will entertain one of the largest crowds of its history next Saturday—Market Day. Everything is being attended to, and with the exception of a few minor details which cannot be done until the day arrives, all is in readiness to make this day an event which will long be remembered.

There is not much more to say. The program as announced last week will be carried out to the letter. The Binford band will be on the job all day and fill in at intervals, and it is possible that the McHenry band will also be here, tho this has not been definitely decided on.

The merchants are arranging their stocks to facilitate handling a large number of customers. The splendid discounts are sure to attract the shrewd buyer who desires to stock up with seasonable merchandise.

The indoor base ball game between two lady teams will be an interesting feature, and the ball game between the locals and the Pekin team will be a hot battle. These two teams are evenly matched and as each team has won a game apiece so far this season, a supreme effort will be made by each to cop the "rubber."

"Thompkin's Hired Man" will be put on again in the evening. This play has met with unusual success at each place where it has been shown. At Pekin Monday night it was necessary to put on the show twice in order to accommodate the large crowd who wished to witness the production.

Immediately after the show, F. C. Boeckman will put on a big dance at the opera house, for which the Binford orchestra will furnish the music.

Throw away your cares for that day and come to Binford. We will treat you royally.
