

The Midsummer festival held here last Saturday was a success from every standpoint. The rain of the night before and the threatening weather during the morning hours delayed the crowd in coming, but by noon the clouds had cleared away and the streets were jammed with autos, teams and people. The first on the program was the indoor base ball game between the north and south country teams, the latter winning the $10 prize. The street sports were then pulled off and these furnished a lot of amusement, the tug-of-war especially being an interesting contest, the southsiders winning. The base ball game between Sutton and Binford followed the street sports and it was the rottenest exhibition ever seen on the local grounds. Sutton was given an awful trouncing, 22 to 5, and we could have made it worse, but this does, in a measure, make up for the drubbings we have received at their hands. Hafner, Kingsley and Reed were used against us and so many hits were made that the score book hardly had room for more. Bjugstad pitched a good game for the locals, allowing only six hits. Two movie shows were put on in the afternoon and evening and were well patronized. The dance in the evening was well attended and all had an enjoyable time. The Willow band was on the job all day and did a great deal in making the day a success.
