

Postmaster Knapp has installed some very elegant new fixtures in the postoffice this week, to take the place of the old ones which have done service since mail was first distributed in Binford. The fixtures are made of steel and finished in mahogany and contain about 125 lock boxes and a few call boxes. Mr. Knapp has arranged his new fixtures so that more space is available for the convenience of the postoffice employees and the rural carriers. Besides the installation of new fixtures new wall paper and painting has added greatly to the appearance. Another improvement which will facilitate the handling of outgoing mail, is a new letter cancelling machine, such as is used in the city postoffices. With these improvements Binford can boast of one of the finest postoffices in the state and we are justly proud of the progressiveness shown by our up-to-the-minute postmaster.
