

ANOTHER HOME TALENT PLAY

"A Modern Ananias" Will Be Presented In Binford Opera House
Friday, March 23.

Another home talent play "A Modern Ananias," will be ready for public presentation on Friday evening, March 23. The characters have practically memorized their parts, except for a little "brushing over" which they will get in the next few rehearsals.

The play is a comedy in three acts by John A. Frazer, and plays three hours. It is a screaming farcical comedy, which depends upon the wit and humor of its lines no less than upon the drollery and absurdity of its situations, for the shrieks of laughter it invariably provokes. Unlike most farcical comedies, "A Modern Ananias" has an ingeniously complicated plot, which maintains a keen dramatic interest until the fall of the last curtain. The climaxes are all hilariously funny, and each of the three acts is punctured with laughs from beginning to end.

The usual price of admission will be charged, and a dance will be given after the show.

The characters are:

- Lysander Lyon, M.D.—With a vivid imagination.... Francis Ringlee
Col. Lyon—With a forgiving disposition, Lysander's uncle Iver Alm
Derby Dashwood—With a Piccadilly accent; Lysander's classmate.
..... F. C. Boeckman
Francisco—With an elastic conscience; Lysander's valet.....
..... C. E. Peterson
Baby—With a soubriquet of Little Tootseywootsy; Lysander's step-daughter.... Miss Annie Kjelland
Nellie Goldengate—With a fickle fancy; the Colonel's ward.....
..... Mrs. H. B. Hanson
Prudence Mayflower—With New England notions; Nellie's friend
..... Miss Lulu Tornbom
Kittie—With so much a month and board; Baby's maid Miss Julia Alm
