

The Non-partisan League meetings in all the adjoining townships Tuesday, were well attended and enthusiasm ran high. No one but members of the league were admitted to these meetings and the greatest secrecy prevails concerning the names of the delegates chosen. This, however, will not be their attitude when their ticket is made public. The league will be the biggest political factor in North Dakota this year, judging from present indications, and that they will make themselves heard will be proven when the day of reckoning rolls around next November.
