

Jessie's fondest hopes were realized in their attempt to celebrate Independence Day on Monday. One of the largest crowds ever gathered at a celebration in this community was present, every neighboring town being well represented, and the full program of events and entertainment was pulled off without a hitch. The committees and Jessie citizens certainly showed their calibre in furnishing plenty of amusements, and everyone is more than pleased with their efforts. We'll be pleased to come again.