

from the Twin City stock market. He reports good time after disposing of the car of stock.

Harold Brown, of Cooperstown, was in town on Thursday last looking after matters of business connected with the telephone.

The genial politician is again in our midst radiating gasoline and good cheer. There will be some sad hearts after next Tuesday.

The dance planned for Friday evening in the hall has been postponed by Prof. Sigge until next week, in order not to conflict with the basket social.

Oscar Rogney says he could use the buggy left at the front door of the hardware store if only the doners would only furnish the horse and harness.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Johnson and daughter, Miss Mable, who are making their winter home in Cooperstown, spent a few days at the farm the past week.

Julius Wurst and Albert Rickford went to South St. Paul Tuesday with a mixed car of stock. They will be sure that the cattle and hogs don't get hungry on the trip.

Mrs. Annie Lotvedt, one of the early pioneers of Griggs county has been seriously ill at the A. V. McColin home. It is sincerely hoped that she may recover her accustomed health.

O. E. Thorn and Miss Ella Thorn motored to Cooperstown with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thorn and R. F. McIntosh on Tuesday evening. Politics, movies and shopping made the time pass quickly.

Ole O. Anderson had to take his wife to the Northwood hospital on Tuesday. It was found necessary to operate on Wednesday morning. Her many friends will be glad to welcome her home again.

There will be a royal good time at the Hemerlin school house Friday evening. Miss Bertha Skofstad, the popular young teacher, and Miss Hilda Watne have arranged a good program and basket social. Don't miss it.

There will be preaching services in the school house, Sunday, at 3:30 p. m. Rev. W. L. Brunett, the new pastor, of the M. E. church at Cooperstown, will conduct the services. It is earnestly hoped that as many as can will greet the pastor. He comes to us with the best wishes of his former charge at Thompson who are going to miss him very much.

There's always something doing in Jessie. This has long been a by-word and was never more fully illustrated than on Tuesday evening, when the spirit of Hallowe'en broke loose. From the stunts pulled off it is a sure proposition that men are only boys grown up. As a result of the parade of the suffragettes, one of our young men will find it necessary to dispense with the use of a pair of trousers owing to the fact that they were so badly stretched as to be of no further use. He has our sympathy.