JESSIE NEWS.

We have not found it necessary to walk yet. The limited is still on the job.

The busy machines are sure knocking out the grain around here. Everybody works but dad.

There will be services in the Catholic church next Sunday. A large attendance is looked for.

Fred Schlinss is getting his corn in the shock, as Riley says, but where oh where are the pumpkins?

F. E. Rule and O. M. Rogney were in Binford Tuesday afternoon, looking after matters of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry St. John spent Sunday at the Edward Erickson home, returning in the evening.

Word was received from Oliver Jenson, at Van Hook, says, "Arrived O. K. and am well pleased. Regards to all."

School opened Monday with a good attendance. Arthur K. Olsen is the new teacher. He arrived last Friday, from Glenfield.

Our genial merchant, J. W. Ressler, is building a combination garage and barn. He also has his weather eye on our friend, Pratt.

N. O. Haugen was a visitor Monday and Tuesday. He says McVillie is on the hump. N. O. is building a splendid new home there.

The movies given by F. E. Rule, in the hall Saturday were good, and fully appreciated by all who could attend. There will be movies again Saturday night.

Rev. Stinson, of Cooperstown, will conduct the gospel services in the school house, Sunday, at 3:30. A cordial invitation is extended to all who can attend.

Mrs. W. J. Dalton and son, Harold, went to Eckelson on Friday and returned by auto on Sunday in company with Mr. Dalton who drove down in the morning.

Mrs. Fred Tollefson, who has been visiting her mother and sister at Jamestown, and also at Wimbledon, returned Friday evening. She was brought home by her brother-in-law, Mr. Stevens.

Mr. and Mrs. Hazard of Cooperstown, were guests of the Harry St. John family Friday, returning home Saturday. In the evening Mr. St. John attended the banquet for the county bankers, and reports a very enjoyable time.

H. M. Kvam, our new tonsorial artist, motored to Fargo Sunday with his sister, Miss Hilda, and a party of friends, returning Tuesday. Miss Hilda drove the car and was accompanied by Miss Maude Orr. They returned Wednesday.

Frank Zimprich was seriously injured Saturday forenoon by his horse. When Frank went into the stall to feed the horse, he gave a lurch and caught him against the corner post. It was feared for a time that some bones were broken but an examination by the doctor proved that such was not the case. He will be in shape in a few days and his friends in the meantime will look after the farm work. He is thankful that it was no worse.

The optimism of North Dakota farmers is worthy of note. In the face of one of the worst crops in its history, we find no gloom. We find very little kicking. It is no small disappointment to find a summers work and a years waiting and toil gone without remuneration. In the face of this rust calamity, we find farmers going around with their usual good humor, with no mark on their face to show disappointment. The last two years have placed them out of debt and all in much better shape to stand the setback, but this does not blot out disappointment but only makes it endurable. The farmers can stick. They are not only looking at the present but into the future, where they can see $50 land in a short time and better crops. Farmers profit by this years experience and by this years experience they will deduct the fact that it is a good idea to raise more stock and diversify. Wheat raising will become more of a sideline.—Bismarck Public Opinion.
