

The Halvorson-Thompson Land Co. have recently made land deals whereby Griggs county will get two more actual settlers. William Brietkrietz and Fred Kuglin of Danube, Minn., purchased a half section six miles north of town known as the Fred Johnson farm, on which Mr. Kuglin and family will make their home moving up in the fall. Henry Larson of South Dakota purchased 240 acres southwest of Binford and will move onto it as soon as he can. Both Messrs Larson and Kuglin are actual farmers of the old schools and will become substantial and permanent citizens of the county. The Halvorson-Thompson Land Co. aim to secure actual settlers whenever possible and work with this object in view at all times. They are confident that in North Dakota and Griggs county especially land that will pay for itself in a short time can be bought as cheaply as any place in the country, considering quality of land, improvements, etc. It is the one place where farming can be made to pay, providing of course that the land is worked as it should be and all the elements which enter into the operation of a successful farm are conducted along business lines. The Halvorson-Thompson Co. are very enthusiastic over the prospects this year and are satisfied that as land seekers become better acquainted with the opportunities in Griggs county, land sales will become easier and more actual settlers will be secured. More actual owners of our land is what this county needs badly and the Halvorson-Thompson Land Co. are to be commended for their persistent efforts along these lines.—Standard Courier.
