

While moving an ice box down the stairs on Tuesday, Mrs. John Lieninger was quite badly injured when the box, which was carried by her and Walter Lieninger, slipped from their hold and fell on her. A bad gash was cut in her head and she received several bruises on her body. They brought her in to town to Dr. Truscott who had to take several stitches to patch up the wound. Mrs. Lieninger is recovering from her injuries and though they are very painful she is thankful that they were no worse.
