

Ben E. Nelson, who was formerly in the pool hall business in Binford, surprised his many friends here by dropping in on Monday's train. Ben is now located at Biggar, Sask., where he is holding down a half section of good Canadian soil, which he is farming with two ox teams. It is six years since Ben left Binford and the world seems to have used him well in that time. He went from here to Finley, but promises to return again for a longer stay.
