

MAY BUILD WAREHOUSE

Prominent Farmer is Considering the Erection of Potato Ware- house.

If the farmers in this community will co-operate to the extent of planting a larger acreage to potatoes, it is almost a certainty that a warehouse will be erected in Binford the coming summer, of sufficient size to handle the entire production.

This is the news that was given The Times last week by one of our popular farmers, who grows potatoes extensively. He asks no bonus and no favors. All he wants is that the farmers plant a larger acreage, in order to assure the success of the enterprise.

The potato industry is one of the foremost in some sections of the northwest and there is no question but what it can be made a very profitable one here if the proper spirit is manifested. This is a progressive step and should be encouraged by everyone.

We will have more to say on this subject in later issues.

Oak Grove Seminary Elections.

The annual meetings of the corporations and the directors of the Oak Grove seminary were held at the seminary last Thursday and Friday, at Fargo, plans for the coming year's work being outlined.

At the meeting of the trustees, the following new members were elected: O. M. Anderson, Minneapolis; N. Bjornson, Fargo; G. O. Ondal, Minneapolis; O. Olind, Sharon, and H. Larson, Bisbee.

The corporation meeting on Friday resulted in the election of Rev. T. Gynild and L. M. Halling as members of the corporation board, while Mr. Halling was re-elected president; Rev. E. Aas was elected vice president and Rev. T. T. Suglestad was elected secretary.

It was decided to give the delegates attending the annual convention in Fargo in June of the Norwegian Free church the use of the seminary building.

Another decision made was that of arranging the grounds for the new building that will be erected in the course of two or three years.

He Ought to Know.

To those of who believe in the native worth of the Indian as a man, who feel the shame put upon our common humanity by the coarse remark that "the only good Indian is a dead Indian," this testimony from the late Colonel Cody (Buffalo Bill), is significant:

"I've fought Indians all my life, mostly with regret," said Buffalo Bill in his farewell visit to Boston.

"Some of the best friends I have in the world today are old chiefs out on those western reservations, men I've fought—some of them right here with me in this show. Old grudges? Nothing of the sort! Believe me when I say there is no treachery in the Indian, and I think I know. When he is on the war path, he has only one thought—to kill. And so have you, though you may go about it in different ways. But when he buries the hatchet, you can trust him. People think Cooper's noble red men are too good to be true. I don't think so. Cooper is pretty truthful as novelists go."

I am prepared to do all kinds of team work, removing rubbish, etc.
