

Albert Paulsrud left the hospital at McVille, last week after being confined for several weeks as a result of a serious injury which he received while butchering. He nearly lost his life thru the accident.

In order to give the best possible