

Post publishers.

The fire department was called out in a hurry Monday when fire was discovered at the J. D. Reid home. Mrs. Reid was busy in the kitchen when one of the children told her that it was dark upstairs. She went to investigate and found the stairs filled with smoke. It was afterwards found that the children had been playing and had left a lighted lamp in their bed. The mattress and bed clothes were burned before the fire was extinguished but the upstairs was badly damaged by the smoke and water. The fire boys did quick work.