

SUTTON NEWS.

Wm. Howden attended the Odd Fellow's district meeting at Casselton Tuesday evening.

Oscar F. Hoff and family of Cooperstown were guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Hoff from Saturday until Monday.

Robert Bailey attended the Odd Fellows meeting at Casselton Tuesday evening, and from there went to Fargo on business.

Maurice Wickham is playing the role of country school master this week, while his sister Irene, is home on account of poor health.

The interior of the drug store is being brightened up by the application of a new coat of paint. A. F. Hurlburt is doing the work.

A. J. Melgard went to Fargo Tuesday evening to be operated on by Dr. Solberg for appendicitis. His condition had not become very serious, but as an operation was inevitable sooner or later, he decided to get through with it before any complications developed.

Tuesday of last week some miscreant placed some pieces of iron on the rails of the high bridge near Luverne, but were found by the watchman. The irons would not have derailed a train, but a handcar or speeder would have been thrown off of the bridge to the ground, a distance of 189 feet.

Jess Willey's friends were at a loss to account for his queer actions Monday morning, but the mystery was explained when he announced the arrival on Sunday evening of a fine eight pound girl at his home. Mr. and Mrs. Willey have been married nine years and this is their first born. All concerned are doing well, even the father.—Sutton Reporter.