

Louis Trostad, of near Jessie, has been busy with several teams hauling lumber for the construction of a new barn on his farm. Last summer he completed a concrete basement and foundation for this barn, which is 50x100 feet and 9 feet high. Two silos will be built, one at each end of the barn, and all other modern conveniences will be installed. When this barn is completed, Mr. Trostad will have one of the best barns in the county.
