

of McHenry, officiating.

Dr. Truscott has been engaged for the past two weeks in his official capacity as village assessor, and by the end of the week, will have finished his job of "nosing into other people's affairs." In his profession as a physician Doc has visited about every home in the village, and with his keen observation it would be useless to hide the piano in the cellar, or attempt to cover up any other assessable property.

Another beam fell of snow on