

on other exchanges.

Thoralf Tweed, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tollef Tweed, had the misfortune to nearly sever the middle finger of his left hand yesterday. He was working around the corn planter when in some way his finger got caught and nearly cut off. He was brought in to town and Dr. Truscott dressed the injured member and thinks with the proper care the finger can be saved.