

Sherbrooke Tribune: Jim Hill gave an excursion last Saturday on his new branch road from Hope to Aneta. A special of three passenger coaches was put on at Casselton and run to Aneta and back the same day. The ride was free to all who wished to take it in and see the new town of Aneta, but an assessment of $1.00 was made on each person which was used we presume, by the company to help pay for the crowd's refreshments and dinner, which was had at Aneta. The coaches were pretty well filled with young people.

In reply to the above, we want to say that the Tribune is wrong. Such is not the case. The Pioneer man was aboard the excursion and no fee of $1, or anything, was charged. We make this correction both in justice to the G. N. railroad and those who went up from Hope on the excursion. The Tribune has been misinformed.
