

H. I. Standley and F. C. Martin rigged up two bicycles and started up Jim Hill's railroad track at a 2:40 gait. The initial trip was made Monday evening and it worked fine. The two wheels are rodged securely together with light gas pipe and a flange on the inside prevents the wheels from leaving the rails. It is a novel scheme and the boys ~~think~~ of applying for a patent.