

A few days ago H. I. Standley met with a painful and serious accident at the farm. He was engaged about a heavy grain tank filled with wheat, and in some way he placed his right hand between the tank and a large iron bolt. The weight of the load mashed the hand horribly. Dr. Philip is dressing it and thinks all will be well. Sorry Henry.