

ly after.

While herding cattle the other day Willie Taylor got tired and laid down to take a nap. In order to keep tab on the cattle he tied one end of the picket rope to the horn of the saddle and the other to his foot. By and by the horse got scared and run away dragging the boy over several acres of rough ground; and when he awoke he was minus several square feet of skin. He wont do it again.