Alm-Stromme.

On Saturday afternoon, January 28, at 5 o'clock, a pretty home wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Anna K. Stromme, when Sarah Caroline Stromme of Hannaford was united in marriage to Louis M. Alm of Una, Sask., Canada in the presence of a few near relatives, Rev. Thoreson tying the nuptial knot.

Both parties are well and favorably known in this community, the bride having grown up in our midst and she is a young lady of sterling qualities who will be greatly missed both in her church work and in her home.

The groom is an enterprising young man. He has resided in the vicinity of Hannaford until the last two years which he has spent in Canada, where he has built up a home on his claim where he and his bride will go to live after a short while.

The well wishes of the community follow these young people to their future home.

Almklov-Hoiby.

When O. Almklov, accompanied by his young bride, stepped off the northbound train last Thursday and no one was on hand to greet them with a shower of rice and other evidences with which it is the custom to greet newly wedded couples, he had the satisfaction of knowing that he had successfully sprung a complete surprise on his many friends who would have been only too anxious to have given him a rousing and long-to-be-remembered reception on his return, had they only known—

The wedding took place on Wednesday, December 29, in Moorhead, Minn., and was a very quiet affair, the newly married couple returning the very next day to Hannaford.

Miss Rose Hoiby, the bride, formerly resided at Osakis, Minn. Two years ago she taught a term of school west of town, and has most of the time since been employed as a teacher in the public schools of a neighboring county. She is a young lady of many graces of mind and person, who is capable of filling the home she will adorn with happiness.

The groom, our popular young druggist, is so well known by everybody that he needs no introduction to Enterprise readers. Suffice it to say that he has for a number of years owned a nice little house in this village and the taking unto himself of a wife was a step in the direction of transforming the house into a "home" in the true sense of the word.

The congratulations on the happy event are numerous and this paper is greatly pleased on this occasion to add its hearty good wishes to those being so freely extended.

Signs innumerable—the infallible signs placed by Cupid upon his victims—had pointed to the above happy event for some time, but so secretive were the principals to the contract that many of their most intimate friends were taken by surprise when they were informed that the nuptial knot was securely tied.

The bride is a highly esteemed young lady of this village, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claus Jackson, one of the most respected families in Hannaford, and she has lived and and grown to womanhood from the cradle in this county—esteemed and respected by a legion of friends and admirers.

He is still one of the proprietors of The Enterprise, but the last two years has devoted his time and attention exclusively to the Anderson-Sinclair Co., being one of the stockholders in that firm.
