

Bronte Burgster of Jamestown died on Tuesday evening of this week and the funeral is being held today. For the past sixteen years Mr. Burgster has been connected with the Gladstone hotel in Jamestown and is known to a large number of the people of this vicinity who have made that hotel their headquarters while at the county seat. He is a brother of J. B. Burgster of the Jamestown Capital and was a man of good business ability and excellent habits and was highly respected by all who knew him.
