

Herb Flewell left Friday morning for Vegreville, Alberta, where he will make his home in the future. Mr. Flewell is one of the old timers in this part of the country and has a host of friends who are sorry to see these most estimable people move away, but who wish them every success in their new home. He bought a half section up in that country last fall and will now break it up and get in shape to put in a crop.