

A policeman at Jamestown arrested Rev. J. G. Morrison of that city because he failed to comply with the ordinance and clean the snow from his sidewalk. After they got the matter into court and the preacher and the policeman indulged in a rather heated controversy for a few minutes the preacher promised to clear off the snow and the matter was ended.