

Abe Posey's residence is quarantined on account of diphtheria, his brother's little girl having the disease. She had been having sore throat off and on all winter and she and her mother came to town the first of the week to stay a day or two and while here they called the doctor and he pronounced it diphtheria and immediately placed them in quarantine.