

August Swanson is again engaged on the Soo road as section foreman after having taken a rest from that kind of labor during the winter. Mr. Swanson is an experienced railroad man and he is like a duck out of water when not at work on the railroad. He has moved his shoe repairing outfit back to his residence where he will take care of any work in that line.