

JOHN VENUM DEAD

DIED AT HIS HOME AT FISHER, ILLINOIS, THE LATTER PART OF LAST WEEK BUT THE CAUSE OF DEATH HAS NOT BEEN LEARNED

News has reached here of the death of John Venum at his home at Fisher, Ill., the latter part of last week, but the cause of death has not been learned yet. His son Vene has been making home at Jamestown for several weeks and he received the message on Saturday and left on the first train to attend the funeral.

Mr. Venum was one of the early settlers of this county and served for a number of terms as county auditor. A few years ago he removed to Fisher, Ill., and engaged in the banking business and was reported to be doing well. He was a highly respected citizen and it will be with regret that his many friends here will learn of his sudden death.
