

W. R. Atkinson has gone to Minneapolis where has accepted a position in his father's carriage and blacksmith shop. Will will be much missed in Courtenay and his place with some of the young ladies and in musical circles would be hard to fill.

Dr. Featherston, the ...