

John Brady, who lives about four miles from Kensal lost his barn by fire Sunday. They were at work branding calves and some one unconsciously laid a hot branding iron in a straw pile, which caught fire and before any body saw it it had such headway that they were unable to put it out.