

Ben Jones, while making some reparations in the top of the cupola on the feed mill Saturday lost his balance and fell to the floor, about twenty feet below. He landed on his left side and was considerably bruised, but fortunately no bones were broken and Ben is around again, somewhat disabled but almighty glad that it was not worse.—
Kensal Journal.
