

Carl J. Norheim, who lives about three miles northeast of Kensal, lost his barn Saturday evening, it being struck by lightning which set it on fire. He had one team of horses in the barn at the time, which he succeeded in getting out. The barn which was one of the largest in the vicinity, and but recently built, was entirely consumed together with some hay, feed, and machinery. The loss entailed will aggregate $3,000.