

Eddie Schumacher and George Scharf returned yesterday from Fargo where they spent the winter at the Agricultural college. The boys say they spent a very pleasant and profitable winter and are loud in their praise of the courses of study offered at the college to farmer's sons. There were about 850 students during the winter term and about 300 remain for the spring term. The boys took up steam engineering, blacksmithing, book-keeping and other useful and practical subjects that are necessary in modern farming.
